OUR MISSION IS TO ADVANCE CIVIL AND HUMAN RIGHTS FOR ASIAN AMERICANS AND TO BUILD AND PROMOTE A FAIR AND EQUITABLE SOCIETY FOR ALL
For the last 25 years, Asian Americans Advancing Justice | AAJC has been at the forefront of the Asian American and Pacific Islander civil rights movement. We have worked on issues related to immigration, anti-Asian violence prevention, race relations, census, voting rights, affirmative action, media diversity, language access and citizenship. Some of our issues—including access to broadband services—did not even exist when we opened our doors. Over the years, our expertise has been recognized in the media, by lawmakers at the very highest tiers of government and by the public. Our legal and policy advocacy has resulted in real positive changes for the Asian American and Pacific Islander community.

The last two years have been no different. Advancing Justice | AAJC played a key role that resulted in the unification of Filipino World War II veterans with their adult children in the United States. These efforts have allowed these veterans’ family members to wait for their visas in the United States.

Advancing Justice | AAJC has been a known and reputable voice in amicus briefs before the United States Supreme Court and other appellate courts. These briefs have touched on a wide variety of topics, including affirmative action, voting rights, access to the Internet, English proficiency, and immigration. Demonstrating the trust given to us, over 245 different organizations have joined our briefs in the last two years.

We continue to have a vibrant and dynamic community partners network. This network provides training and technical assistance to grass roots Asian American and Pacific Islander organizations in 32 states and the District of Columbia. It allows local voices to be lifted nationally. It also provides Advancing Justice | AAJC with first-hand information about the issues facing our diverse community.

As an affiliation, Asian Americans Advancing Justice—with our partners in Atlanta, Chicago, Los Angeles, and San Francisco—is getting stronger and more unified. Across all of our platforms, we are coordinating our work more than ever. Under one common name, our collective impact has and will increase significantly.

Notwithstanding the successes of Advancing Justice | AAJC, we know that the community’s needs are increasing—not diminishing. The 2016 election and the new Administration clearly present challenges to our community. Our organization needs to continue to grow, and be strategic about how we can use our experience and expertise to effect positive change. We must demonstrate leadership, focus and commitment at this critical time.

Our work could not be done without the generosity of friends and donors. We extend our deepest gratitude to all of you who have supported our work and look forward to your continuing support as we seek to advance the civil and human rights of Asian Americans, and to build and promote a fair and equitable society for all.

Thank you.

 Advancing Justice | AAJC successfully advocates for expansion and reauthorization of the Voting Rights Act.

FIRST PROGRAM AREAS

 First program areas include anti-Asian violence, voting rights and immigrant rights.
STRENGTHENING ROOTS
IMMIGRATION AND IMMIGRANT RIGHTS

PROMOTING FAIR AND JUST IMMIGRATION POLICIES
Advancing Justice | AAJC is one of the nation’s leading authorities on immigration policy as it affects the Asian American community. We leverage our position as a leader in the Asian American and broader social justice community in order to promote fair and just immigration policies that protect family unity, provide access to immigration status and a pathway to citizenship, and prevent discrimination in enforcement.

OUR ADVOCACY
Throughout the 114th Congress, we educated Congress and the public about the impacts of proposed anti-immigrant and anti-refugee policies on AAPI communities and promoted forward-looking legislation such as the Reuniting Families Act which was introduced in 2016 by Representative Michael Honda. With gridlock in Congress, we turned to administrative advocacy during the prior administration to fix our broken immigration system.

REUNIFICATION FOR FILIPINO WORLD WAR II VETERANS
The Filipino World War II Veterans Parole Program is illustrative of the meaningful victories we can achieve to reunite families - in this case, uniting Filipino World War II veterans with their adult children who can now wait for their visas in the U.S. instead of waiting for many years overseas. Advancing Justice | AAJC played a key role in the advocacy for the creation of the program throughout 2015 and worked closely with USCIS (U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services) and the White House in its implementation and outreach in 2016. USCIS began accepting applications for the program in early June 2016.

DEFERRED ACTION FOR CHILDHOOD ARRIVALS (DACA)
Advancing Justice | AAJC continued its nationwide outreach and education to assist Asian Americans in accessing legal assistance and applying for relief under DACA. Our continued partnership with the AAPI DACA Collaborative allowed us to learn more about best practices and lessons learned from DACA-related outreach, which we were able to convey to policymakers in Washington, D.C.

NEW AMERICANS CAMPAIGN (NAC)
In 2015, Advancing Justice | AAJC became the site leader for the New Americans Campaign in the Washington metropolitan area. In this role, we have been working to bring together local immigration service providers to pave a better road for citizenship. Advancing Justice | AAJC and the Asian Pacific American Legal Resource Center (APALRC) have partnered with AAPI-serving community based organizations to hold numerous naturalization workshops to provide legal assistance to individuals applying to become U.S. citizens throughout the year.

LEFT: Citizenship Day 2016. On September 17, Advancing Justice | AAJC with the American Immigration Lawyers Association and our DC area NAC partners, organized nine workshops in DC, Maryland, and Virginia, through which we helped over 200 individuals apply for naturalization.
RIGHT: Washington Post reporter David Nakamura tells the story of World War II veteran Art Caleda, a Philippines native who served our country, received citizenship under a 1990 immigration law, and continues to wait—now more than 20 years—to reunite with his children.

FIRST AMICUS BRIEF
Advancing Justice | AAJC files its first amicus brief with the Supreme Court in the case Wisconsin v. Mitchell. In upholding that state’s hate-crime statute, the Supreme Court cites AAJC’s brief.

AUDIT OF VIOLENCE AGAINST ASIAN AMERICANS
Advancing Justice | AAJC publishes the first Audit of Violence Against Asian Pacific Americans and helps to successfully pass the Hate Crimes Sentencing Enhancement Act.

ENSURING AN ACCURATE REFLECTION OF ASIAN AMERICANS IN THE CENSUS

Advancing Justice | AAJC works to address barriers that have historically resulted in the undercounting and underreporting of AAPIs in federal data collection and analysis efforts. An accurate count of the AAPI community in the census is a must for government services to be provided to our people and for decision makers to understand the community’s importance. Our work has led to increasing census research on improving outreach to Asian Americans, particularly those who are limited English proficient—the people who stand to lose the most if they are not accurately represented.

Advancing Justice | AAJC serves in leadership roles as policy expert through our appointment to the Census Bureau’s National Advisory Committee on Racial, Ethnic and Other Populations (NAC), as chair of the Census Bureau’s Language Working Group, as well as in our role as co-chair of the Leadership Conference Census Task Force.

We continue to provide education and technical assistance on census issues to the general public and our communities by highlighting the importance of the census. We are developing our Census 2020 Outreach and Education Campaign for the AAPI community, applying our experience from the Census 2010 Campaign to best reach our hard-to-count AAPI communities.

In November 2016, as chair of the Language Working Group for the NAC, Advancing Justice | AAJC led the development of a report focused on the Census Bureau language program for the 2020 Census. This led to a series of recommendations that included suggested criteria for which languages to cover, best practices for translations, and the types of materials to be translated.

INCREASING THE VISIBILITY OF ASIAN AMERICANS AS PART OF THE FABRIC OF AMERICA

In fall 2015, we published our demographic report on the West, the last report in our “Community of Contrasts” series based on 2010 Census data. We held launch events in each of the areas highlighted in the report: in Seattle with Asian Counseling and Reporting Services, in Portland with the Asian Pacific American Network of Oregon, in Phoenix with Asian Pacific Community in Action, in Las Vegas at an event organized by community leaders, and in Honolulu with Papa Ola Lokahi. At each launch event, between 80-120 community stakeholders attended—including community leaders, social service providers, business leaders, academics, funders, as well as legislators and administrative officials from local, state and federal government.

We have received enthusiastic and positive feedback on the report from many leaders who have expressed their gratitude for a tool that they have used to advance their advocacy agendas and to leverage greater resources for community needs. Further, we are increasing visibility and greater understanding of Asian American, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander communities through ethnic and national press coverage.

ENSURING LEGAL PROTECTIONS FOR ASIAN AMERICANS

Through our legal advocacy program, Advancing Justice | AAJC participates in cases before the U.S. Supreme Court and other federal and administrative courts on key civil rights issues that have significant impact on AAPI and immigrant communities. We have engaged in cases at various stages of litigation, filing amicus curiae briefs and working with the broader racial and social justice movement, advancing equal protection for all Americans on a wide range of issues including voting rights, language access, education, immigrant rights, criminal justice, housing, healthcare access, and racial justice.

FISHER V. UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS

In November 2015, Advancing Justice | AAJC, together with our affiliates Asian Americans Advancing Justice – Los Angeles, Asian Law Caucus, and Chicago, submitted an amicus brief to the U.S. Supreme Court in support of the University of Texas at Austin’s affirmative action policy. June 23, 2016, the Supreme Court agreed with Advancing Justice | AAJC and upheld the University’s affirmative action program.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS V. NEWBY

In July 2016, we submitted an amicus brief to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit on behalf of 17 civil rights groups in a high-profile and extremely expedited appeal challenging imposition of proof-of-citizenship requirements for federal voter registration. Our position saw victory on September 9, thereby blocking states from adding proof-of-citizenship requirements for federal voter registration.

BANK OF AMERICA CORP V. CITY OF MIAMI

In October 2016, we led a multiethnic coalition of 32 civil rights organizations to file an amicus brief to the U.S. Supreme Court supporting the ability of cities to sue banks under the Fair Housing Act (FHA) to challenge discriminatory lending practices that harm minority homeowners and loan applicants. Our position saw victory on May 1, 2017.

MULTICULTURAL MEDIA V. FCC

In October 2016, Advancing Justice | AAJC led a multiethnic coalition of 26 civil rights, immigrant rights, and language access advocacy organizations in submitting an amicus brief to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit. Our brief in support of multi-language emergency alert broadcasts highlighted the life and death impact on the ground for non-English speakers caught up in natural disasters and other emergencies.

LEE V. UNITED STATES

In Fall 2016, Advancing Justice | AAJC filed a cert-stage amicus brief, leading a coalition of 15 Asian American, civil rights, and immigrant rights organizations in support of a petition for Supreme Court review by an immigrant facing deportation. In December 2016, the Supreme Court granted review. We led a merits stage brief in 2017, and our position saw victory on June 23, 2017.

LEE V. TAM

In November 2016, Advancing Justice | AAJC led a coalition of 12 AAPI organizations to file an amicus brief to warn the Supreme Court about the dangers of opening the federal trademark program to racial slurs and other disparaging trademarks. One of Advancing Justice | AAJC’s primary goals in filing the amicus brief was to lead public education and media messaging, particularly to Asian American youth.

KING V. BURWELL

On March 14, 2015, the U.S. Supreme Court heard oral arguments in King v. Burwell, a challenge to the Affordable Care Act (ACA). Advancing Justice | AAJC rallied in support of the ACA outside the high court alongside our partners. Advancing Justice | AAJC joined our partners and filed an amicus brief in the case.

BUILDING POLITICAL POWER

VOTING RIGHTS

INCREASING VOTING POWER AND PROTECTING EQUAL ACCESS TO THE BALLOT BOX FOR ASIAN AMERICANS

As a nationally recognized expert on voting rights, Advancing Justice | AAJC works to increase participation of Asian Americans in the political process by eliminating barriers to participation and promoting policies that increase access. We promote compliance with voting rights laws and increased access to the ballot, fight voter intimidation and suppression, produce reports on voting rights issues, and conduct voter surveys to increase understanding about the voting behavior and attitudes of our community. We also file amicus briefs on voting rights to ensure Asian American and other disenfranchised communities’ needs are known and on the record. We provide training to our Community Partners and local community based organizations on a wide range of issues, including enforcement of the language assistance provisions of the Voting Rights Act and election administration issues.

ELECTION PROTECTION AND LANGUAGE ACCESS

Ensuring language access during elections remains a top priority for Advancing Justice | AAJC.

FACT SHEETS

For the 2016 elections, Advancing Justice | AAJC published in-language factsheets on Sections 203 and 208 of the Voting Rights Act, identifying jurisdictions providing language assistance and explaining a voter’s right to assistance of choice, respectively. These languages included: Bengali/Bangla, Chinese, Hindi, Japanese, Khmer, Korean, Tagalog, Thai, and Vietnamese.

PALM CARDS

Advancing Justice | AAJC designed a business-sized palm card that included state specific information, general voting information and rights, and advertisement of the hotline number and the languages supported. Over 6,500 palm cards were distributed to 24 partner organizations in 12 states (AZ, FL, GA, MN, NM, OH, PA, TX, VA, DC, MD and NC), which were utilized by our partners at their Get Out The Vote (GOTV) events and outreach leading up to the election.

VOTER GUIDE

In 2016, Advancing Justice | AAJC published the Presidential Voter Guide: A Resource for the Asian American Electorate for the general election, detailing the leading presidential candidates’ positions on several key issues. The Voter Guide was published for first-time voters who may not be as familiar with the voting process and included information on how to register to vote and cast a ballot, as well as voting information for all 50 states.

VOTER HOTLINE

Advancing Justice | AAJC and Asian Pacific Islander American Vote (APIA Vote) run the 888-API-VOTE Asian Language Election Hotline, a year-round, national, Asian-language voter protection/information hotline with bilingual assistance available to voters in English, Mandarin, Cantonese, Korean, Vietnamese, Hindi, Bengali, Tagalog, and Urdu. We help voters who have questions about voting, need help understanding the voting process and those who experience problems voting. We host the hotline live at a call center all-day on Election Day. For the 2016 election cycle, calls were also answered live remotely by volunteers starting early October leading into November 8.

We had over 550 callers before Election Day. On Election Day we had nearly 250 calls addressed by volunteers. This call volume more than doubles the call volume in 2014, including five times more in-language calls.

BUILDING POLITICAL POWER
COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

ENGAGING WITH LOCAL COMMUNITIES TO ADVANCE AND PROTECT THE RIGHTS OF ASIAN AMERICANS

COMMUNITY PARTNERS NETWORK

Established in 1995, this program has accumulated more than 20 years of experience in coalition-building as well as providing training and technical assistance to local groups on campaign efforts. With 156 community-based organizations and local allies in 32 states and the District of Columbia, we work closely with members of the network to develop regional and local capacity to elevate community voices across the nation. In turn, the network provides us first-hand information about the issues facing our diverse community.

EMPOWERING COMMUNITIES INITIATIVE

In 2014, Advancing Justice | AAJC launched the Empowering Communities Initiative, formerly known as the Emerging Constituencies Initiative (ECI), which strives to provide support and build capacity of local organizations and leaders to advocate on behalf of their communities so that Asian Americans may more effectively participate in democratic processes at the local, state, and national levels.

In 2015, we convened 12 local AAPI organizations in Houston, TX for the ECI, creating the first AAPI-focused advocacy collaborative in the city and state. We provided technical assistance, including development training, which resulted in a successful $200,000 multi-year grant for the Houston ECI collaborative to support AAPI outreach and civic engagement. The ECI Leadership Committee established a structure and plan of action to utilize the grant both to increase AAPI engagement in Election 2016, as well as to establish a foundation for their policy efforts in 2017 and beyond.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP SUMMIT

Advancing Justice | AAJC’s Youth Leadership Summit is a three-day leadership development program for college students. The Summit provides a unique opportunity for young advocates from across the country to gain hands-on experience from interactive workshops and activities with policy advocates and legislative staff of Members of Congress on Capitol Hill. Advancing Justice | AAJC provided scholarships for 17 students in 2015 and 21 students in 2016.

“’The Youth Summit really taught me the skills I need to be an effective community advocate and leader. I’m grateful to Advancing Justice | AAJC for the opportunity to learn from today’s leaders in the civil rights movement, especially Mee Moua, and her staff. Every day, you are moving us further ahead in the fight for equal rights for all. Keep up the great work and thank you for inspiring a new generation of advocates to carry the torch.”

- DEVIN TRAN, Youth Leadership Summit 2015

“We talked more about comprehensive immigration reform, as well as the successes and challenges [Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders] face at the federal level. We learned that it was more than policy. Rather, it was an entire movement fueled by community advocacy. These women were at the forefront fighting for our rights. Fortunately, we were able to network with them after the session. The summit not only taught us about policy, and how to advocate for it, but also gave us the space to practice our new skills.”

Every year, AAPIs from across the U.S. come together to address issues facing our fastest growing population. Last year’s Advancing Justice Conference theme, “Empowering Asian American and Pacific Islander Communities 2016 and Beyond,” focused on civic engagement and building our electoral and social power in support of economic and racial justice. Conference attendees participated in two days of panel discussions, caucus sessions, skills and capacity building, trainings, and networking receptions. Nearly 950 AAPI community leaders from across the country traveled to Los Angeles, California for the conference.
